ABSTRACT

This directory lists the over 1,500 members of the Network of Colleges and Universities Committed to the Elimination of Drug and Alcohol Abuse. The member colleges and universities are listed by state and within each state section listed alphabetically by institution. The listings show addresses, institution presidents, and contact persons with telephone numbers. An introduction describes the history and mission of the Network. The Network standards to which all members have made a commitment are also included. A later section describes a Network planning group and lists members. Other lists contain regional coordinators with addresses and telephone numbers and associations endorsing the Network. A final section lists and describes resources including federal agencies, organizations and associations, state contact offices, and catalogs. (JB)

FOREWORD

In 1987, the U.S. Department of Education, in cooperation with the higher education community, created the Network of Colleges and Universities Committed to the Elimination of Drug and Alcohol Abuse. The Network provides a support structure including standards for institutions that are establishing and enforcing policies to promote the prevention of drug use and alcohol abuse. The work of the Network reinforces "Goals 2000: Educate America Act," the President's proposed education and reform bill that would codify into law the six National Education Goals and their objectives. One of those goals is that by the year 2000 "every school in America will be free of drugs..."

The Network has increased to 1,500 members representing every state in the Union, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Northern Marianas, and the Virgin Islands. The member institutions are listed in this Directory. All of them have endorsed written commitments to the implementation of the Network's Standards. This Directory also identifies national and regional contacts and resources to enhance development of campus-based education and prevention programs. We intend for this Directory to assist you in exchanging information with colleagues at other colleges and universities.

American society is harmed in many ways by alcohol abuse and other drug use–decreased productivity, serious health problems, breakdown of the family structure, and strained societal resources. Problems related to alcohol and other drugs have a pervasive impact upon many segments of society–all socioeconomic groups, all age levels, and even the unborn. Education and learning are especially impaired; alcohol abuse and other drug use by college students inhibits their educational development and is a growing concern among our Nation's institutions of higher education. Recent national and campus surveys indicate that alcohol use is more prevalent than other drug use and that institutions increasingly are requesting community support and mounting cooperative efforts to enforce their policies.

As higher education entered the 1980s, there was clear recognition that alcohol abuse and other drug use were major problems. Institutions responded by increasing disciplinary sanctions and educational programs. The higher education community, through various professional associations, also took action. In 1981, the Inter-Association Task Force on Alcohol and Other Substance Issues was created. That Task Force, made up of representatives of various higher education associations, developed college marketing guidelines targeted at the sale and distribution of alcohol products on U.S. campuses. With the cooperation of colleges and universities, in 1984, the Task Force created National Collegiate Alcohol Awareness Week and established a model campus alcohol policy.

In 1986, Congress responded to the national problem by passing the Drug Free Schools and Communities Act "to establish, implement and expand programs of drug abuse education and prevention (including rehabilitation referral) for students enrolled in colleges and universities..." Unfortunately, colleges that attempted to institute model programs or effective strategies for coping with problems related to alcohol abuse and other drug use found sparse information available in the national data bases and no formal mechanisms for sharing information.

In 1987, the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Educational Research and Improvement responded to the higher education community's need for assistance by calling for a network of institutions willing to commit time, energy, and resources to eradicate substance abuse on their campuses. The stated goals were (1) to collect and disseminate research and practice-based knowledge about successful programs; (2) to provide a forum and mechanism for continuing communication and collaboration among institutions of higher education; and (3) to identify areas and problems for further research and development.

With this purpose in mind, a group of 15 higher education administrators met to develop a set of minimum standards required for institutions to become members in the Network of Colleges and Universities Committed to the Elimination of Drug and Alochol Abuse. This group represented a cross section of individuals concerned with campus substance abuse and included chief student affairs officers, health educators, and legal specialists. The standards formulated at the meeting were reviewed, modified, and affirmed. In December 1987, the Secretary of Education convened a select group of college presidents representing liberal arts institutions, large universities, military schools, and 2-year colleges. This group also reviewed, modified, and affirmed the standards. These standards have been reviewed by professional higher education associations for their endorsement.

The Network seeks the participation of colleges and universities who have made a solid commitment throughout their institutions to achieve the following goals:

- establish and enforce clear policies that promote an educational environment free from the abuse of alcohol and use of other drugs;

- educate members of the campus community for the purpose of preventing alcohol abuse and other drug use, as well as educate them about the use of legal drugs in ways that are not harmful to themselves or to others;

- create an environment that promotes and reinforces healthy, responsible living; respect for community and campus standards and regulations; the individual's responsibility within the community; and the intellectual, social, emotional, spiritual or ethical, and physical well-being of its community members; and

- provide for a reasonable level of care for alcohol abusers and other drug users through counseling, treatment, and referral.

If your institution is not presently a member of the Network but would like to join, have your president write a letter indicating the institution's commitment to implementing the Network Standards. The letter should be addressed to Network Coordinator, U.S. Department of Education, Office of Educational Research and Improvement, 555 New Jersey Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20208-5524.

The Standards of the Network of Colleges and Universities Committed to the Elimination of Drug and Alcohol Abuse define criteria for institutional membership in the Network. The standards are organized within the four areas of policy, education, enforcement, and assessment.

A. POLICY

Network members shall...

1. Annually promulgate policy, consistent with applicable Federal, State and local laws, using such means as the student and faculty handbooks, orientation programs, letters to students and parents, residence hall meetings, and faculty and employee meetings.

2. Develop policy which addresses both individual behavior and group activities.

3. Define the jurisdiction of the policy carefully to guarantee the inclusion of all campus property. Apply campus-based standards to other events controlled by the institution.

4. Stipulate guidelines on marketing and hosting for events involving students, faculty, staff, and alumni at which alcoholic beverages are present.

5. State institutional commitment to the education and development of students, faculty, and staff regarding alcohol and other drug use.

B. EDUCATION PROGRAMS

Network members shall...

1. Provide a system of accurate, current information exchange on the health risks and symptoms of alcohol and other drug use for students, faculty, and staff.

2. Promote and support alcohol-free institutional activity programming.

3. Provide, with peer involvement, a system of intervention and referral services for students, faculty, and staff.

4. Establish collaborative relationships between community groups and agencies and the institution for alcohol and other drug related education, treatment, and referral.

5. Provide training programs for students, faculty, and staff to enable them to detect problems of alcohol abuse and other drug use and to refer persons with these problems to appropriate assistance.

6. Include alcohol and other drug information for students and their family members in student orientation programs. The misuse and abuse of prescription and over-the-counter drugs also should be addressed.

7. Support and encourage faculty in incorporating alcohol and other drug education into the curriculum, where appropriate.

8. Develop a coordinated effort across campus for alcohol and other drug-related education, treatment, and referral.

C. ENFORCEMENT

Network members shall...

1. Publicize all alcohol and other drug policies.

2. Consistently enforce alcohol and other drug policies.

3. Exercise appropriate sanctions for the illegal sale or distribution of drugs; minimum sanctions normally would include separation from the institution and referral for prosecution.

D. ASSESSMENT

Network members shall...

1. Assess the institutional environment as an underlying cause of alcohol abuse and other drug use.

2. Assess campus awareness, attitudes, and behaviors regarding the abuse of alcohol and use of other drugs and employ results in program development.

3. Collect and use alcohol- and other drug-related information from police or security reports to guide program development.

4. Collect and use summary data regarding health and counseling client information to guide program development.

5. Collect summary data regarding alcohol- and other drug-related disciplinary actions and use it to guide program development.

[Developed at the Network Planning Group meeting on September 21-22, 1987. Revised at a meeting of college presidents on December 9, 1987; at a meeting of the Higher Education Secretariat on January 5, 1988; and at meetings of the Planning Group on February 2, 1988, and February 27, 1990.]

The Planning Group of the Network of Colleges and Universities Committed to the Elimination of Drug and Alcohol Abuse began in September of 1987 with 15 higher education administrators. Their assignment was to develop a set of minimum standards required for institutions to become members in the Network. As the number of planning group members increased during the past 4 1/2 years, so did their responsibilities.

Presently, the group acts as an advisory board to the U.S. Department of Education on alcohol and other drug related issues on college campuses. Group members also serve as planners, implementors, and writer/editors of various Network activities and publications that include the annual National Forum and regional forums, the guidebook for college presidents and boards of trustees, the administrator's handbook, regional training workshops, and research meetings and manuscripts.

The planning group brings the needs/perspectives of the field to the Department on drug and alcohol issues. The group also communicates with higher education associations by speaking at their national and regional meetings. The planning group's dedication and commitment to the Network have been invaluable in the development and implementation of its activities.

The region is the basic component of the National Network of Colleges and Universities Committed to the Elimination of Drug and Alcohol Abuse and is designed to facilitate communication and the exchange of information concerning programs and activities. Regional Networks are sub-units of the National Network and are therefore affiliated with the U.S. Department of Education's Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI). There are presently 21 regions established along state boundaries. The prime advantage of this structure is the ability to address regional differences.

The regional coordinators are key individuals in the Network structure. Coordinators are appointed by OERI for a minimum of 2 years. Coordinators serve as conveners of the Regional Steering Committees and are primary individuals in the development and implementation of activities that include regional forums, meetings and workshops, and publication and distribution of regional newsletters. Contact the coordinator of your region/state for information on specific activities.

FEDERAL AGENCIES

ACTION
1100 Vermont Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20525
(202) 606-5135

ACTION, the national volunteer agency, promotes the spirit and practice of volunteerism. This mission is carried out by more than 476,000 local volunteers in communities around the country. ACTION programs help meet basic human needs and support the self-help efforts of low-income individuals and communities.

Drug Alliance Office

ACTION's chief prevention efforts for alcohol and other drug (AOD) problems are developed and managed by the Drug Alliance Office, established in 1987 in response to the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986 (Public Law 99-570). Located within the Program Demonstration and Development Division, the Drug Alliance Office coordinates ACTION's AOD abuse prevention and education activities. Through grants, contracts, and technical assistance, the Alliance supports community organizations committed to prevention strategies that emphasize volunteerism, increase public education and awareness, seek to strengthen the family, and promote positive alternatives to AOD use.

The Department of Education (ED) provides an overview of the condition of education in the United States, exercises leadership in the solution of nationwide education problems, and conducts programs designed to achieve excellence in education, promote educational opportunities for all citizens, and supplement State and local education efforts. The Department provides financial aid for elementary, high school, and college education; for vocational and adult education; for education of the handicapped, the disadvantaged, the gifted, migrants, and Native Americans; for persons whose native language is not English; and for other purposes.

The Department serves as the government's chief fact-finding agency in the field of education. It collects and publishes statistics on the Nation's education system and sponsors research in all important areas of education. The Department of Education administers the largest block of Federal funds devoted to the prevention of alcohol and other drug (AOD) problems. Oversight of ED's AOD use prevention programs is provided by a staff located in the Office of Elementary and Secondary Education.

ED is pursuing two major initiatives in higher education. One, the Fund for the Improvement of Postsecondary Education's (FIPSE) Drug Prevention Programs in Higher Education, supports colleges and universities in developing programs to prevent illegal AOD use among their students.

The Office of Educational Research and Improvement (OERI) currently coordinates ED's other higher education initiative, a network of institutions committed to the elimination of illegal AOD use on their campuses. The network which has approximately 1,500 members- shares information, ideas, and resources through conferences, publications, and 21 regional networks.

Separate competitions are held annually for the following:

- Institutions of higher education to develop and maintain prevention initiatives;
- National college student organizations to develop programs through their chapters;
- Consortia of prevention professionals from colleges and universities to collaborate on the development and improvement efforts of their AOD programs;
- Dissemination of successful projects previously supported by FIPSE; and
- Analysis of successful project designs, policies, and results previously supported by FIPSE.

The U.S. Department of Education plans to award a contract for a Higher Education Training and Technical Assistance Center in Fall 1993. The Center's goal is to combat AOD use in American colleges and universities primarily through education and prevention activities.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION
National Highway Traffic Safety Administration
Traffic Safety Programs (NTS-21)
400 Seventh Street, SW
Washington, DC 20590
(202) 366-0123

The Highway Safety Act of 1966 provides the legislative mandate for the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) to (1) establish a national program to reduce motor vehicle crashes, injuries, and fatalities; and (2) improve highway safety programs in the States.

Office of Alcohol and State Programs

Through this Office, NHTSA provides resources to State and community impaired driving programs. These resources include

- Training materials shown to be effective in preventing driving under the influence (DUI), including prevention and intervention workshops that bring together teams of individuals who can play key roles in DUI prevention activities;
- Model programs that have been developed in research and demonstration projects and can be adapted to meet local needs, including a Public Health Plan for publicizing impaired driving as a public health issue;
- Guidelines on program operation, addressing administration, funding, planning, and evaluation; and
- Technical assistance, including on-site training, workshops, and planning sessions for State and community DUI prevention programs.

The National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) provides a national focus for the Federal effort to increase knowledge and effective strategies dealing with health problems and issues associated with abuse and alcoholism. As part of these responsibilities, the Institute

- Conducts and supports research on alcohol-related disorders;
- Supports studies and surveys that assess the risks for alcohol abuse among various population groups;
- Supports training and development of scientists for participation in alcohol research programs and activities;
- Supports, documents, and evaluates (in consultation with the National Institute on Drug Abuse) successful and replicable approaches to community-based alcohol and other drug abuse (AOD) treatment and rehabilitation services for individuals with AOD-related problems who are homeless or at imminent risk of becoming homeless;
- Supports education activities for health professionals to improve the scientific knowledge and clinical skills of health care providers to recognize, diagnose, and manage patients with alcohol problems effectively; and
- Collaborates with other research institutes and programs and coordinates Federal alcohol abuse and alcoholism research activities.

The National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) is the lead Federal agency for drug abuse research. The Institute provides a national focus for the Federal effort to increase knowledge and promote effective strategies to deal with problems and issues of drug abuse. In carrying out these responsibilities, the Institute sponsors and conducts research on the incidence and prevalence of drug abuse, its causes and consequences, and improved approaches to prevention and treatment. NIDA disseminates its research findings to the public through various means--such as the press, community education programs, NIDA's Drug Abuse Hotline, and publications distributed by the National Clearinghouse for Alcohol and Drug Information (NCADI).

3. CENTER FOR SUBSTANCE ABUSE PREVENTION
SAMHSA/CSAP
5600 Fishers Lane
Rockwall II Building
Rockville, MD 20857
(301) 443-0373

The Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP), formally called the Office for Substance Abuse Prevention (OSAP), was established by the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986 as the cornerstone of the Nation's drug demand reduction strategy. Its scope was expanded by the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988. CSAP is part of the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) within the Public Health Service of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

CSAP's missions are to perform the following functions:

- Operate a national clearinghouse;
- Operate a prevention demonstration grant program;
- Support the development of model programs;
- Conduct prevention workshops;
- Train health care providers; and
- Support knowledge transfer.

4. CENTER FOR SUBSTANCE ABUSE TREATMENT
SAMHSA/CSAT
5600 Fishers Lane
Rockwall II, Tenth Floor
Rockville, MD 20857
(301) 443-5052

The Center for Substance Abuse Treatment (CSAT), formerly called the Office for Treatment Improvement (OTI), was established in January 1990 to assist drug treatment providers to improve their treatment programs. CSAT is part of the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) within the Public Health Service of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

CSAT's missions are the following:

- Manage the alcohol, drug abuse, and mental health block grant program;
- Operate a treatment improvement grant program;
- Conduct technical assistance workshops;
- Support technology transfer; and
- Encourage the implementation of quality assurance mechanisms in treatment programs.

CSAT places special emphasis on the improvement of drug treatment programs for special populations. At present, populations of particular interest include racial and ethnic minorities, adolescents, individuals living in public housing, and individuals involved in the criminal justice system. Another area of interest is improving the overall drug treatment systems in large metropolitan areas. CSAT also funds, supports, and monitors more than 345 projects to reduce the waiting lists of drug treatment providers.

CSAT's major programs are as follows:

- Block Grants—CSAT is responsible for administering the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Block Grant.
- Discretionary Grants (cooperative agreements)—Demonstrations are to be funded for 3 years, depending upon availability of funds.
- Critical Populations Grant Program—Funding is for 3-year demonstrations for enhancements to existing treatment programs that are geared toward the following critical populations: (1) racial and ethnic minorities, (2) adolescents, and (3) residents of public housing.
- Criminal Justice Grant Programs—CSAT is exploring the implementation of a treatment demonstration grant for criminal justice populations.

OFFICE OF NATIONAL DRUG CONTROL POLICY
Executive Office of the President
Washington, DC 20500
(202) 467-9800

The Office of National Drug Control Policy was established by the Leadership Act of 1988. It is headed by the Director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy, who is appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Director is assisted by the Deputy Directors for Demand Reduction and Supply Reduction. The Bureau of State and Local Affairs is headed by an Associate Director for the Office of National Drug Control Policy. The Office is located in the Executive Office of the President.

In September 1989, the Office of National Drug Control Policy published the National Drug Control Strategy. This was updated and the Third National Drug Control Strategy was released in January 1991. The strategy addresses national priorities in a number of critical areas, including the following:

- The criminal justice system;
- Drug treatment;
- Education, community action, and workplace;
- International priorities;
- Interdiction efforts; and
- Research.
